

Topic: Mowat-Wilson Syndrome – Research into the Effect on Family Life and Educational Progress

January 27th 2011

I am currently conducting research into Mowat-Wilson Syndrome (MWS), and the effect it has on family life and educational progress. I would like to recruit families and teachers or special needs assistants who have a child with MWS in Ireland, in order to obtain their experiences on this topic. I am a trainee educational psychologist, and feel that very few professionals working in psychological or educational settings have much awareness of the syndrome. If you interested in taking part in the study or would like to know more about the research, please feel free to contact me at lynnkavanagh@ucdconnect.ie.

Lynn Kavanagh

I hope that this study will raise awareness of the syndrome with psychologists and other health professionals, and that it will allow parents' experiences to be heard.

Please feel free to contact me if you have any queries,

Yours sincerely,
Lynn Kavanagh
Educational Psychologist in Training
BA, BSc, MA, HdipEd